For the second time, we are offering a half-day seminar for veterinarians and vet techs only. This seminar will be held Saturday, June 13th at Raynham Greyhound Park in Raynham, MA. Veterinary professionals will be able to talk to each other and share their ideas and experiences concerning medical treatment of greyhounds. Dr. Alexandra Lightbown, veterinarian for the Racing Commission in Massachusetts will emcee the proceedings. We are honored to have Dr. Ron Hirschberg from Brockton Animal Hospital and Dr. Guillermo Couto, from Ohio State University and their greyhound program. Dr. Hirschberg will address low level laser treatments on inflammation disorders. Dr. Couto will address bleeding disorders in greyhounds, lab work values distinctive to greyhounds, and the OSU bone cancer research.

Light refreshments will be served courtesy of Raynham Greyhound Park. This time can be used to socialize and continue the exchange of information among all of the professionals in attendance.

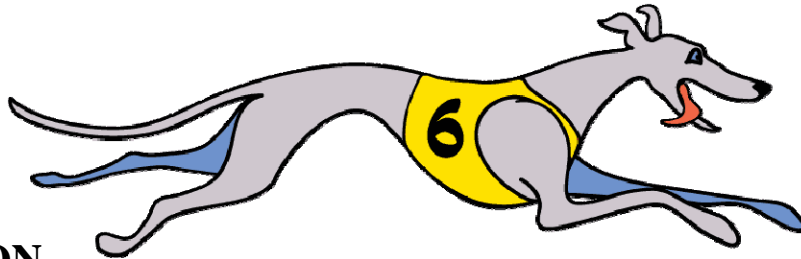

Registration for this event is free. We have applied for three and a half Continuing Ed credits from the Massachusetts Veterinary Medical Association.

There are several motels within 15 minutes of the track if you are coming from out of state. Questions can be answered by calling Linda Jensen at 860 319-7555
